
Make module only display and add wording to top

Posted by cadman - 2008/01/07 12:56

Is there a way to make the module only display the the users or chatters and not link to anything?

I want the information however I do not want it to go to Blastchat if clicked on. I thought that was what the link or text option in admin was for. If it is it does not work.

Also

Is there a way to add a hyperlink "To have a chat room created click here" At the top of the window? I want people to be able to easily request that I create a chat room for them.

Great program! Thank You

You can place this hyperlink anywhere on your website, it does not have to be inside chat (anyway I'll think if it will be possible to allow this kind of option have listed in room selection area)

Great program! Thank You! am glad you like it, enjoy.

I realize the "join chat" goes to my chat , I do not want it there or I do not want it to do anything. I just want the viewing options w/o the ability to click on them in the module

Thank You

That option is not there, if there will be some time to do so then upcoming 2.3 version might have that option build in. Or, simply edit file (components/com_blastchatc/dynamic.blastchatc.php), find and remove it.

Can you tell me what I would need to remove?

I do not know PHP. Looked but could not find anything that I think may do it.

Thank You

Thank You

1. find calls of function mosToolTip
2. in each of them add 7th parameter value of 0 (zero)

Example:

$content .= mosToolTip( $usertext, _BC_CHATLINK, $tooltip, "../../../components/com_blastchatc/images/online.png", "", $chatlink );

to this:

$content .= mosToolTip( $usertext, _BC_CHATLINK, $tooltip, "../../../components/com_blastchatc/images/online.png", "", $chatlink, 0 );

That 7th parameter in that function call is defining if clickable link is supposed to be created, by default it is set to 1, you set it to 0.
