I went to your website and I do not see any errors or notices. Where can I see it? (Can you take a snapshot?)

(You can disable "notices" in your php.ini file by adjusting error level.)

The error on the front page for some reason disappeared. Click on anything in the main menu and you will see it when the page changes. I will look for the error thing in the PHP.INI

Thanks

Please, take a look into your database, find table jos_blastchatc and tell me values in fields:

url =
global_count =
global_update =

I am not quite sure what I am looking for, as this is random behavior, it does not appear to happen on each module load, some menu links load no error, other do.

1. disable "notices" (it always helps s bit)
2. edit module.blastchatc.php file
3. replace function

```
function bc_getGlobalCount() {
    global $database, $bc_site;
```

```
    $query = "SELECT global_count, global_update "
    . "\n FROM #__blastchatc WHERE url='$bc_site'"
```

```
    $database->setQuery( $query );
    $result = null;
    $database->loadObject( $result );
    return $result;
```

```
}with
```

```
function bc_getGlobalCount() {
    global $database, $bc_site;
```

```
    $query = "SELECT global_count, global_update "
    . "\n FROM #__blastchatc WHERE url='$bc_site'"
```

```
    $database->setQuery( $query );
    $result = null;
    $database->loadObject( $result );
    if (!$result) { $result->global_count = 0;
        $result->global_update = 0;
    }
    return $result;
}
```

---

(I made typo in code if (!$result) should be if (!$result), fixed it, please copy/paste function now)

Did you already try to edit your php.ini file and disable "Notices"?

fix I gave you should take care of your Notices (did you clear your cache after fix has been applied to defaults.blastchatc.pfp file?)

If that does not work for you, then edit dynamic.blastchatc.php file and place that code there:

find:

```
$global_count = bc_getGlobalCount();
```

replace with

```
$global_count = bc_getGlobalCount();
if (!isset($global_count)) {
    $global_count->global_count = 0;
    $global_count->global_update = 0;
```

```
}

but this code will do same as one provided before last thing I can think of is to replace all occurrences $global_count variable name with something else in dynamic.blastchatc.php file, like $global_varibale (could be a problem with $global_count->global_count (variable name and pointer have same name)
